CATTLE SHIPMENTS SHOW AN INCREASE

Corn Moves in Exceptionally Heavy Quantities, but Other Grains Show Shrinkage in Receipts at Principal Markets.

Wyatt Building, 18th and P Streets.

Washington, Aug. 6.—Statistics of internal trade movements as received by the Department of Commerce and Labor through its Bureau of Statistics indicate that, although aggregate live stock receipts at important interior markets during the first half of the current year were somewhat in excess of similar movements in 1994, iotal grain receipts and shipments were not so large as those of the previous year, notwithstanding the fact that corn moved in exceptionally heavy volume.

At the markets of Chicago, Kansas City, Omana, St. Louis and St. Joseph total live stock receipts during the month of June amounted to 2,574,699 head, as against a similar inbound movement in 1994 of 2,705,693 head, and in 1905 of 2,546,591 head. During the first six months of the current year 17,290,165 head of live stock were received at these five markets, a number approximately 600,699 head greater than that for a like period in 1904, and more than 2,00,009 head greater than that for 1965.

The present year's movement was divided into 3,429,546 cattle, 25,529,118 hogs, 4,29,756 sheep, and 215,915 horses and mules. As compared with the 1906 figures, gains were made in the arrivals of caives, hogs, sheep, and 115,915 horses and mules. As compared with the 1906 figures, gains were made in the arrivals of caives, hogs, sheep and horses and mules but a slight loss occurred in receipts of cattle.

ST. LOUIS RESCEIPTS.

ST. LOUIS RECEIPTS. At St. Louis live stock receipts during the month of June totaled 441.169 head, as against 450.62 head for a similar period in 1891, and 26.631 head in 1803. Shipments in 1904, and 286,611 head in 1963. Shipments for the month, which amounted to 26,204 head in 1905, were 104,204 head in 1904, and 68,880 head in 1905. For the first six months of the current year 2,133,635 head of live stock were received at St. Louis as compared with the corresponding inbound movement in 1904 of 2,194,684, and in 1933 of the present year as compared with the 1904 movement being caused by lighter arrivals of cattle, sheep and horses and mules. Shipments of live animals from this city during the first half of 1905 totaled 445,363 head in 1904 and 235,510 head in 1904.

Total grain receipts at twelve important interior primary markets during the month of June amounted to 50,26,555 bushels, of which 8,420,635 bushels were wheat. 2,344,737 bushels corn. 15,531,685 bushels of oats, 2,065,418 bushels of barley and 28,654 bushels of rye. A total inbound movement during the corresponding month in 1904 argregated 45,230,543 bushels, being over 5,000,690 bushels less than the 1905 receipts, due largely to increases during the latter year in the arrivals of corn. oats and borley. For the first half of the current year 27,256,132 bushels of grain were received at these markets, in contrast with 272,78,133 bushels in 1904.

CHICAGO LEADS.

Although large gains were made in corn receipts during the present year, as compared with similar movements in 1904, shrinkages in wheat, outs, barley and rye arrivals were more than enough to offset these gains, off the interior markets prominently identified with the receipts of grain. Chicago led, having received 107,-642.145 bushels during the first six months of the current year. Minneapolis came second, with 67,08,100 bushels, and 8t. Louis third, with 22,65.956 bushels, and 8t. Louis third, with 22,65.956 bushels, and 8t. Receipts of wheat at the four spring wheat markets of Minneapolis, Milwaukee, Duluth and Chicago, during the crop year from August 1, 1904, to and including June 30, 1905, aggregated 189,552,754 bushels, as against similar total arrivals in 1904 of 162,622,225 bushels, and in 1905 of 162,222,325 bushels, and in 1905 of 163,222,325 bushels, and in 1905 of 163,622,225 bushels, and the corresponding movement in 1904, and over 15,600,000 bushels lighter than the corresponding movement in 1904, and over 16,500,000 bushels less than that for 1902, Lauses were sustained at all four of the markets specified, although the decrease at Detroit was very small. "If Secretary Bonaparte will order an investigation of the naval gun factory he will find enough to keep him busy for many weeks to come."

This statement, made by a machinist employed in the naval gun factory, carries in substance the rumors which have been affoat for weeks at the Washington Navy Yard.

There has been talk of defective guns and patched-up sights, and more than this, threats of discharge if any of the shortcomings of the factory or its management were told to outsiders.

it is openly said at the yard that the sights of the Colorado guns were of faul-ty construction, and were patched up by orders of someone in authority in the

The men who assert that this is true say they are anxious to have the Secretary of the Navy take up the matter and sift it to the bottom. They hint at more irregularities, but admit that the "fixing" of the sights is the most important, for the reason that the guns of the big battleship will be useless in case of war, or even in target practice.

will be useless in case of war, or even in target practice.

The sights in question are technically known as 6-inch mark XIII's. Special tools had to be designed for their manufacture. Fifteen of the right-hand sights, it is said, were ruined or practically so, and those who ought to know say that orders were given to patch them up. This was, they say, so cleverly done that the finished sights will pass casual inspection.
